Ideas have never been easy to protect.

Now, in the age where ideas can be freely discovered, shared, copied, or stolen so easily, it is essential to take steps to protect your intellectual property – an important and valuable asset of your company. We will share our broad experience with you in copyright, trademark, trade secrets, and data privacy law to protect your exclusive rights at every step of the process, from idea development to cease and desist letters to enforcement against infringers. We provide counsel in regards to protecting your music, literary work, art work, software programs, cloud services, trade secrets, discoveries and inventions, as well as words, phrases, symbols, and designs.
